Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 05 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rather cloudy overnight. Showers arriving on Saturday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Mostly cloudy during the night with lingering showers over most of the areas across the region. Showers slowly moving northeastwards overnight and turning heavy at times. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Saturday:
A cloudy start across the region with scattered showers for the east and north. Showers persists through the afternoon, heavy at times. Spreading across the region overnight. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Largely cloudy on Sunday with some snow possible in the south. Scattered snow showers on Monday and Tuesday. Feeling very cold due to strong easterly winds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.